The mother was absent, engaged at her usual labor, and the child was left with two older children of the family, and it appeared that they thoughtlessly began amusing themselves by lighting pieces of paper, and the fire communicated to the clothing of the child. A neighbor came to the rescue, and rolling the child in the snow, extinguished the flames, but not until the unfortunate little sufferer was injured beyond hope of recovery.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Matters of Interest to Workers Everywhere.

A COUNCIL has been organized at Spencer, Mass., with 100 members.

THE Windsor, Vt., mill is running full time. Machine shops are only running eight hours.

THE Connecticut Sovereigns of Industry have increased in one year from seven members to nearly 6,000.

THE wages of the track-men on the Erie & Pittsburgh road were reduced from $1.25 to $1.15 per day on the 1st inst.

THERE are fourteen councils in Maine with over 1,000 members. Toledo, Ohio, has several well-organized councils.

THE Springfield, Mass. councils have organized a co-operative company, with a capital of $3,500. With this a store is to be established next month.

THE French iron trade is quiet, as always at this season, but all the forges and furnaces are running with two months' orders ahead. In Belgium the mills are running short time.

THE New England Sovereigns of Industry are purchasing at least 10,000 barrels of flour per month, directly from mills owned by the grangers. The average saving is about $1.50 per barrel, or $15,000.

INDUSTRIES at Paterson, N. J., are reviving. The Grant Locomotive Works have resumed work on the Russian engines. The Danforth Works are running full time, and the Rogers shops have resumed.

THE weavers' strike at the Aquidneck Mills, Newport, R. I., still continues. Only the spinning room is running. The Perry Mill, in the same city, has reduced its wages rate, and the operatives have accepted the change.

PHILADELPHIA has co-operative saw manufactories, shoe and carpet manufactories, a good printing office, and one or two small cigar factories. The Sovereigns of Industry have entered into an alliance with these shops.

SEVERAL Pittsburgh mill men came to Middlesex some time since to work in the mill there. The puddlers had agreed to work at the full price until the matter was settled in Pittsburgh, but owing to some technicalities they quit work again, thus stopping the whole mill. Some of the Pittsburgh parties have returned home.—Sharpsville Advertiser.

THE different meetings held last week by the miners of this Valley have resulted, as was expected, in a general strike throughout the Valley. The miners, through their Union, and by the officers of the Union, have taken the whole question in hand and propose, judging from the tone of their orders to the operators for conference meetings and general conversation, to dictate and determine all points and questions. The final decision to strike was made at the mass meeting at Oakland on Monday last, and was inaugurated on yesterday morning. The miners report that they strike against any further reduction on the price of mining paid last fall.—Sharpsville Advertiser.

FIRST EDITION.

THE BEECHER TRIAL.

Tilton Still Under Cross-Examination.

NEW YORK, February 10, 1875.

The Tilton-Beecher trial attracted this morning the usual crowd. Mrs. Tilton was seated between Mrs. Field and a lady new to the Court room. Gen. Tracy was present, and during the greater portion of the morning session kept up an animated conversation with ex-Judge Porter. Mrs. Beecher, accompanied by her son, was seated behind the counsel for her husband, who was absent.

The cross-examination of Mr. Tilton was continued by Mr. Evarts, who showed him a letter of January 9th, 1869. Witness, on referring to his memorandum book, stated that that year was an error; it should be 1870.

Mr. Evarts read a letter which was written by Tilton to a friend in Connecticut, explaining the charge of stopping at a hotel in Winsted with a lady. He said in explanation of this occurrence, that the lady was a protege of his wife's, who had attended a lecture of his there, and was staying at the same hotel, but there being no fire in her room, and a stove in his, she had come into his room to share the heat, and sat by the fire reading to him while he lay on the bed.

The witness continued: This letter was written to a Mr. Hastings; I do not now remember who he is; it was written in answer to an inquiry; I never heard anything about the slips of

of November being exhibited in any of the New York newspaper offices; I went to Mrs. Woodhull's office when occasion required, but with no great regularity; always went when I was sent for, and sometimes I went spontaneously; I went to her house perhaps ten or a dozen times; I only passed one night under her roof, in September; the precise day I do not remember; I do not remember where I spent the time from the 3d to the 5th of July, 1871; and I cannot say if any portion of it was spent at the home of Mrs. Woodhull; I did not spend either of those nights at her house, though I am unable to say if I was at her residence those days. I cannot remember anything noteworthy occurring on either of these days. I never passed three days in her company, though I cannot say if I passed a portion of any of these days in her house; I do not remember if

Mrs. Tilton Was in the Country, but I could tell by looking at her correspondence; I would be able to tell by the Catherine Gaunt letter; I think she was at Schoharie; I do not remember being in the company of Mrs. Woodhull when she told a lawyer named Hussey, of Lowell, of the story which she published; but I recollect being with her on the occasion of the meeting of Gen. Butler; I heard her speak of the publication in the presence of Mr. Moulton, but never in that of any other person. [Shown a paper.] There is an allusion in this to the Catharine Gaunt letter; the paper shown to witness was a copy of Woodhull & Claflin's Weekly of May 17, 1873; I had been some of the letters and documents, and I adopted a form of fac similes in their publication so as to let the public judge of the matter; I do not remember ever furnishing titles to the letters which I published, and do not remember if it ever was done. Mr. Underhill, my stenographer, had the preparation of my letters for the press, and I cannot say if he may have done so. After Mrs. Tilton's return from the West, on the 1st of December, 1870, she came to my house, and then went to her mother's. I had among my personal acquaintances at that time the Rev. Gilbert Haven, now Bishop of the Methodist Church. He has been at my house perhaps about a hundred times, but I cannot recall him being there at any particular date. But before and after he became a Bishop he made many visits to my house. On the morning of Mrs. Tilton's return she came to my house.

She Went to See Her Mother

afterwards, and came back to my house, when she told me of a conversation she had with her mother, in which the latter urged her to go there and live about a week or ten days. After she left and went to her mother, where she remained about a week, I sent for her at one time from the office of the Brooklyn Union, and she came to me. She had our infant child with her when she left the house. I do not remember sending for the child during her absence. The child was brought to my house, however, but who brought it there I do not know, nor do I know that the child was taken in her absence. She then returned to my house, but I do not know whether she considered it her home. [A letter shown to witness.] I judge this to be the letter I sent home.

The letter was read by Mr. Evarts, as follows:

"Ellen, wrap the baby up carefully, and bring him to my house immediately.

"6:15 P. M. THEODORE TILTON."

The witness resumed: The Ellen to whom the letter is addressed is Miss Ellen Dennis, my housekeeper. I do not remember if I was at home when the child was brought there. The child was born in June, 1869, and was then nearly eighteen months old.

The witness was then read questions asked him and answers given by him before and asked if he remembered them. He replied that he did not, but he recollected some of the answers, and others were incorrectly given in the volume of testimony.

The Investigating Committee of Plymouth Church,

The witness continued: I studied phonography when a boy, but have not followed it professionally.

Mr. Evarts insisted on knowing if witness was an expert phonographer, and the following colloquy ensued:

Mr. Evarts—I ask you, sir, if you are an expert phonographer?

Witness—Solomon says: "Let another praise thee, and not thine own lips." [Laughter.]

Mr. Evarts—What on earth has Solomon got to do with your case? [Increased laughter.]

The Court rebuked the audience, and witness answered: I made brief notes of the papers in Mr. Moulton's possession. I made a copy of Beecher's letter of contrition of January 1, 1871. I also made a copy of the letter of February, from Beecher to Mrs. Tilton, and the letter to Moulton on the 7th of February, which I showed Mrs. Tilton. I made copies of parts of the letters of June 1, 1873, and February 5, 1872, letter—both from Mr. Beecher. I am quite sure I did not copy all of these latter letters, but only took a couple of fragments out of them. There was a multitudinous correspondence of four years, of which I copied very little, because I saw only a small portion of them. I learned Pittman's phonography when I was a boy at school. I never destroyed any of Beecher's letters from December 26, 1870, to the present time, nor any of Moulton's during the same period, nor yet have I destroyed any of my own. I have not destroyed any of the papers relating to the subject.

The "Ragged Edge"

Bessie Turner

was absent from my house in 1868 or 1869 at an institution, and in 1870 she was away with Mrs. Tilton in the West.

The Court took the usual recess.

After the recess Tilton's cross-examination was resumed by Mr. Evarts.

Witness said: I do not remember any charge being made against me in an interview between Bowen and myself, when Oliver Johnston was present, about what occurred at Northport, Minnesota. I was there lecturing about six or seven years ago, and I never remember any charges ever being made about my conduct while there. I remember when Mr. Beecher met me at the house of Mr. Moulton, when he (Moulton) was sick, Beecher saluted me with A Kiss on the Forehead.

After any period of estrangement Beecher and I occasionally saluted one another with a kiss, and it was a noticeable event when it happened. I do not know when the name of "letter of contrition" was given to the letter of January 1st, 1871. Mr Beecher always characterized it as "my letter to Moulton," and in my letter to Dr. Bacon I called it the "letter of apology." I do not remember ever making any description of it except in the Bacon letter, and then it was called the apology. When a portion of the letter was published in the Bacon document, the newspapers generally characterized it as the letter of contrition. (Shown a letter.) This is the handwriting of Mr. Beecher. I remember receiving this and showing it to my wife. I got it from Mr. Moulton. The only recollection I have about the time of its being written was that it was some time in the spring of 1873.

Mr. Evarts read the letter written to Mrs. Tilton by Mr. Beecher, telling her that he was glad that Theodore had seen which was opened before them. Mr. Beecher expressed his sorrow in the letter for the great wrong done her.

Witness resumed: This letter referred to the publication of the Woodhull scandal. After the Woodhull publication, Mr. Halliday, Mr. Bell and myself had an interview. My acquaintance with Halliday before this was very slight. I do not remember saying to Halliday when I came in that I came to see him, or that I was sent by Moulton in relation to the Woodhull publication. I do not remember addressing Mr. Bell as George, and saying "Do not go." I do not remember saying that there was not a particle of truth in the Woodhull story, though I may have said it. I do not remember disclaiming its publication or saying that I was away in the West, campaigning, when the story was published. I do not remember saying my wife is as pure as the light, but I said: "You would not believe me, but ask Mr. Beecher, and he will tell you she is as pure as gold." In December, 1872, there was in existence a paper called the written by me about the end of that month. The tripartite covenant was not published in the "True Story," but any person reading it could understand it from all that was there. It was never made complete by inserting in it the tripartite agreement. The story was never in manuscript in the complete form in which it was published. It would fill two or three columns of a newspaper, and would in pamphlet form be about the thickness of a hand. No copy of this was ever made by me or with my knowledge. This paper, to the best of my belief, was destroyed, I think, by Mrs. Tilton, but not by me or by my desire. It is a long time ago since I last saw this paper in existence. I think about the spring of 1873 I took this paper to several persons and left it for perusal. I showed it to Mr. George A. Bell, William C. Dewitt, and I think to Mr. Dunkley. I think Mr. Dewitt had it a day or two. I do not remember the names of any other persons now, but I showed it to several other parties. I did not show it to Mr. Goodridge or Dr. Storrs. I showed the sum and substance of this paper in its preparation to Dr. Storrs.

Mr. Evarts objected to this last answer, and asked the Court to strike it out.

Mr. Beach argued that it should be allowed to remain on the minutes, inasmuch as it was given by witness as an explanation.

The last answer was ordered to be struck out by the Court.

The witness continued: I did not show this paper to Mr. Page, the artist, but showed it to B. F. Tracy and Mr. Woodruff. I do not remember if I showed it to Mr. Moulton, but it was left in his possession. I did not show it to James B. Mix, but think I showed F. B. Carpenter the original manuscript. I did not show it to Mr. Redpath. I neither showed it to or left it with Thomas Kinsella, nor do I remember showing it to Thomas C. Clarke. I did not show it to Alderman Whitney, but I did let him see Beecher's Letter of Contrition.

I showed a previous or early draft of the paper, the matter of which was the same as contained in the pamphlet to Dr. Storrs, and read to him the whole of it. This was about the 30th of December, 1872, I think. I do not remember showing the draft to Mr. Page, the artist, or Mr. Charles Storrs. I showed some loose sheets of the draft to James B. Mix, but I did not leave any of them with him. As soon as soon as I made a complete copy of the draft it went into the waste basket. I do not know of any copy of that paper now in existence. I read the completed paper to Mr. Tracy in Moulton's study, I think between Christmas and New Year, or a little later. I did not show him anything but the completed paper. When we had an interview together in November I did not show him the draft of the paper, for it was not then in existence, but Moulton showed him the letter of contrition of Beecher. Mr. Moulton was present when I showed the paper of the "True Story" to Tracy. It was two or three weeks after the 15th of December when I showed this paper to Tracy. As fast as I copied sheets of the draft I think I threw them into the waste basket. I think Mr. Carpenter has an entry in his memorandum book showing that the copying of the draft was finished on the first day after Christmas. I began the copying of the draft some day about the the middle of December, and on the 16th of that month I had an interview with Dr. Storrs about it. I saw Dr. Storrs three or or four times about that period, but I cannot remember dates. I read to him the paper, which was afterwards copied in a more general way, and published in a pamphlet. Before the 1st of January, 1871, I returned from the West, where I had been on a lecturing tour, during which which I thought required me to put forth a statement. Mrs. Tilton accompanied me on a portion of that tour. I heard one story out there that I was a drunkard, had become divorced, and others of a like nature, and on my return I thought of publishing the Bowen letter. I first began the preparation of this letter in March, 1872. I conferred with Oliver Johnson and Moulton about the publishing of this letter when the article was put in type. I do not remember showing it to any person other than those concerned. It was shown by Moulton to Beecher, and by Mr. Claflin to Bowen, but I was not present then. The tripartite agreement was drawn up on April 2d, but there was a previous preparation of it by Mr. Wilkinson, containing a clause which I declined to sign. I have not got a copy of the paper containing the clause referred to. Changes were made in Mr. Bowen's clause No. 1 and mine, which was numbered 2. I do not know if the original draft is in existence.

Adjourned.

FORTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

(SECOND SESSION.)

A Bill to Prevent Unlawful Immigration.

The Steamboat Bill Recommitted to the Committee on Commerce.

The House Discussing the Postoffice Appropriation Bill.

WASHINGTON, February 10, 1875.

SENATE.

Reports on Relief Bills.

A large number of reports were made from the Committee on Claims and Committee on Pensions upon bills for the relief of various parties.

Mr. MORRILL (Me.) moved that the Senate at two o'clock take a recess until this evening, for the purpose of considering the bill to provide a government for the District of Columbia.

The Steamboat Bill.

Mr. CHANDLER opposed the motion, and said he desired to have the Steamboat bill disposed of. He gave notice that he would press that bill in opposition to all others.

After discussion Mr. MORRILL withdrew the motion for the evening session, but gave notice that he would renew it again during the day.

3.65 District of Columbia Bonds.

Mr. HITCHCOCK called up the House bill to perfect the United States Government guarantee of the District of Columbia 3.65 bonds, and to authorize them to be registered at the United States Treasury. Passed.

Business on the Calendar.

The Vice President then called for business on the calendar.

The Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds being entitled to the floor, Mr. MORRILL (Vt.), from that committee, called up the Senate bill to make an appropriation for public buildings at Covington, Ky. Passed.

The House bill for the protection of the United States Custom House in the city of Louisville, Ky., was passed.

The Senate bill to grant a site for the Peabody School in St. Augustine, Fla., was taken up, to which there was an amendment pending submitted last session by Mr. Edmunds, providing that if at any time any distinction shall be made in the admission of pupils on account of race or color, the site shall revert to the United States, and it was rejected—yeas 23, nays 24—Messrs. Cameron, Ferry (Conn.), Gilbert, Morrill (Vt.), Schurz and Sprague being among those who voted in the negative.

The bill was then passed without a division, Mr. Alcorn voting in the negative.

Mr. HOWE entered a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was passed.

The House bill to authorize the purchase of a site for a public building at Topeka, Kansas, passed.

Public Buildings at Harrisburg.

The Senate bill to authorize the purchase of a site for public buildings at Harrisburg, Pa., and appropriating $160,000 for that purpose, was read.

Mr. THURMAN moved to strike out the clause providing that the State of Pennsylvania shall relinquish its jurisdiction over the land to be conveyed. He said unless this was done, no act whatever committed in the proposed building could be taken cognizance of by either municipal or State authorities. A clause similar to the one he proposed to strike out had been creeping into bills of this character, and it was time for the Senate to stop it.

The motion of Mr. Thurman to strike out was rejected—yeas 16, nays 24. The bill was then passed.

The Steamboat Bill

was then called up, and it was recommitted to the Committee on Commerce.

District of Columbia Government.

The Senate then resumed consideration of the bill to provide a Government for the District of Columbia, reported by the select committee, the pending amendment being that of Mr. Morton, to have three Commissioners elected by the qualified voters of the District, instead of appointed by the President by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Mr. MORTON gave notice that as soon as the bill now before the Senate should be disposed of he would call up the resolution to seat Pinchback.

After an executive session, adjourned.

HOUSE.

Unlawful Immigration.

Mr. MEYERS introduced a bill supplementary to the act in relation to immigration. Referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

The bill has reference especially to the coolie trade. It provides that when immigrants have entered into a contract or agreement for a term of service in the United States, either for labor or for lewd and improper purposes, such immigration shall not be deemed voluntary, and the United States consul shall not deliver the required permit or certificate. It makes it a penal offense for American citizens to be engaged in such trade. It forbids the importation of women for purposes of prostitution, invalidates all contracts in relation thereto, and makes the importation or holding of women for such purposes a felony, punishable by fine and imprisonment. It also makes immigration of the following classes unlawful: Persons who are undergoing sentence for felonies, crimes other than political, or whose sentence has been remitted on account of their immigration, and women imported for purposes of prostitution.

A New Tariff Bill.

Mr. DAWES, from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported a new Tariff bill.

Mr. DAWES wished to have the bill made a special order in the House, instead of in Committee of the Whole, but Messrs. WARD (Ill.) and SAYLER (Ohio) objected, the latter remarking that it was a proposition to kill the goose which laid the golden egg, and that he would throw every obstacle in its way.

Mr. RANDALL remarked that there was no disposition on his side of the House to interfere with the immediate consideration of the bill, which was to raise revenue.

The bill was then referred to the Committee of the Whole, and made the special order for to-morrow.

Postoffice Appropriation.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole, Mr. McCrary in the chair, on the Postoffice appropriation bill.

The amount recommended to be appropriated by this bill is as follows: For the general service of the Postoffice Department, $36,000,861; for steamship service, $537,500; for official stamps for the use of the Postoffice Department, $986,000; total $37,524,361—to be provided for as follows: By revenues of the Department, estimated at $29,148,156; by an appropriation for the deficiency out of the Treasury, $6,852,705; by direct appropriations out of the Treasury, $1,523,500. The total amount recommended by this bill is less than the estimates therefor by $1,538,173.

Mr. TYNER, who had charge of the bill, explained it, and compared the items with those of last year's expenditures. The expense of the department was 5 per cent. less than that of last year, while the annual increase of business is from 8 to 10 per cent.

Mr. HOLMAN moved to add to the item for inland mail transportation a proviso that no part of that money should be used to increase the compensation of railroad companies beyond the rate now received by them.

After discussion, Mr. Holman's amendment was rejected—45 to 103.

Mr. MERRIAM moved to add to the item of $100,000 for advertising mail lettings, a proviso that proposals for bids shall be advertised in one newspaper in each Congressional district where the service is to be performed.

After considerable discussion Mr. MERRIAM withdrew his amendment, and one, offered by Mr. HOLMAN (Ind.), was adopted requiring the Postmaster General to cause the advertisement of mail lettings to be posted up conspicuously in each postoffice for at least sixty days.

Mr. PLATT (N. Y.), from the Postoffice Committee, offered an amendment fixing the salaries of certain postmasters as follows: New York, $8,000; Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago and St. Louis, $6,000; Brooklyn, Baltimore, San Francisco and Cincinnati, $5,000.

Mr. COX moved to amend the amendment by making the salary of the postmaster at New York $10,000.

Mr. O'NEILL (Pa.) proposed that the postmasters of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, St. Louis, &c., should receive $6,000 a year.

After discussion, Mr. COX withdrew his amendment, recognizing that it had no chance of being adopted, and that it might defeat the original proposition.

Mr. O'Neill's amendment was rejected.

Mr. KASSON moved to amend by providing that the salaries of postmasters in cities and towns with a population not exceeding 40,000 by the last census shall be reduced 25 per cent., but shall not be reduced below two thousand dollars. Rejected—78 to 98.

Mr. MERRIAM offered an amendment that no assessment for political purposes shall be hereafter made on postoffice clerks. Rejected on a point of order.

Mr. NEGLEY moved to add the postoffice at Pittsburgh to the six thousand dollar offices, and

Mr. SYPHER proposed to add New Orleans, and

Mr. HAZELTON (Wis.) proposed Milwaukee.

They were all rejected.

Mr. Platt's original proposition was then rejected, only thirty-one voting for it.

Mr. WHITEHEAD moved to appropriate one hundred thousand dollars for the payment of claims of Southern contractors prior to the war. Rejected on a point of order.

Mr. YOUNG offered another amendment for the same object, which was also rejected on a point of order.

Mr. SMITH (Ohio) moved an amendment repealing the law of 1872 for additional mail steamship service to Japan and China, and annulling the contract made under it. Agreed to without discussion.

Mr. COBURN moved an amendment requiring public documents and seeds sent by members of Congress to be carried through the mails free.

Pending action on it, the committee rose and the House took a recess till half-past seven, the evening session being for debate only.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Text of the New Revenue Bill.

The Proposed Changes in the Law.

WASHINGTON, February 10, 1875.

The text of the revenue bill reported to the House to-day by Mr. Dawes, is as follows:

A bill to further protect the Sinking Fund and to provide for the exigencies of the Government.

Be it enacted, &c., That from and after the date of the passage of this act there shall be levied and collected on all distilled spirits on which the tax prescribed by law shall not have been paid, and whether the said spirits shall then be in a distillery or bonded warehouse or not, a tax of one dollar on each proof gallon, or wine gallon when below proof, to be paid by the distiller, owner or person having possession thereof, before removal from the distillery or bonded warehouse, and so much of section 3,251 of the Revised Statutes of the United States as is inconsistent herewith is hereby repealed. HOUSE.

Powers of the House to Investigate the State Treasury.

Mr. PARKER, from the Committee on Judiciary General, to whom was referred a resolution providing for an inquiry into the powers of the House to investigate the affairs of the State Treasury, submitted a lengthy report, which was read.

First. That a committee of the House have power to compel the attendance of parties as witnesses, and send for papers, &c.

Second. That, under the Constitution, neither House had power to employ or pay a clerk by the passage of a joint resolution of both Houses.

Third. That under the present laws of the State, the Auditor General had power, to attain the end set forth by the resolution, to institute an investigation, and left it to the consideration of the House what course should be pursued, whether to refer to a select or standing committee, or the Auditor General.

It was further suggested, in relation to the exchange of the four and one-half and five per cent. loans for six per cent. loans of 1867, that it might be expedient to refer the inquiry thereto to a select or standing committee, but left it optional with the House to do so.

Mr. MITCHELL gave notice that the minority of the committee would submit a report.

Bills on First Reading.

A bill providing for the acquisition of out lots by cities of the third class.

Smull's Hand Book.

The joint resolution ordering 3,000 copies of Smull's Hand Book was referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

The Local Option Question.

The act to repeal the act permitting the voters of Pennsylvania to vote on the question of granting licenses to sell intoxicating liquors came up on the calendar.

Mr. CHRISTY raised the point of order that the bill could not now be properly considered, because when it had last been before the House a motion had been pending to refer it back to the committee. This placed the bill in the position of unfinished business, and it could not be legitimately put upon the regular calendar, unless cleared of all embarrassing motions.

The House decided the point to be well taken.

An effort was then made to get the bill up by suspending the rules, but as this required a two-thirds vote, it was lost.

Mr. MORGAN, of Lawrence, supported Mr. Christy's motion in an eloquent and telling speech, while DEGAIMAN, of Fayette, took the opposite side of the question.

Adjourned.

Afternoon Session.

The House met at 4 P. M.

The Game Laws.

The supplementary act to amend and consolidate the several acts relating to game and game fish passed the first reading.

Regulating the Sale of Liquor.

Mr. THORNMAN read in place an act to regulate the sale of liquor in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Reducing Street Car Fare to Five Cents.

The Committee on City Passenger Railways reported affirmatively an act to repeal the act of Assembly, approved March 15, 1867, entitled "An act to regulate the rates of fare on certain passenger railroads in the county of Allegheny," be and the same is hereby repealed. This act will reduce the fare on the Penn street cars from six cents to five.

Bills Read in Place.

An act appointing stenographers for the several courts of the Commonwealth, prescribing their duties and fixing their compensation.

A supplementary act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations, approved the 29th of April, 1874, and to extend the provisions of said act to embrace within the provisions of the same the transportation of oil and natural gas by means of pipe lines, above reported affirmatively from the Committee on Corporations, with slight amendments.

By Mr. WIMMER, of Elk—A supplementary act to authorize the formation and regulation of railroad corporations, approved April 4, A. D. 1868. This act has special reference to enable a road to be built from Waynesburg, Greene county, to Little Washington, allowing three feet narrow gauge roads, with a capital stock of six thousand dollars per mile, to file articles of association with the Secretary of the Commonwealth when three thousand dollars of stock for every mile proposed are subscribed and ten per centum paid thereon.

Re-Seating Chairs.

Cane seat chairs are very apt to wear out and then, if their owners are far from the upholsterer, they are thrown aside as useless. Daisy Eyebright tells the Country Gentleman how to repair them so they will be "good as new." And she tells so that any woman with a little ingenuity can do it: Take any pieces of baggage or burlaps—no matter how course—and fit them to the chairs, cutting them large enough to wrap about the rounds that holds the splints or canes. Now sew it on with a darning needle and twine twice doubled, and turn up a hem, as you sew on the burlaps. When half fitted, stuff it with "excelsior" shavings of poplar wood, or if you have them, cut off layers from old quilts, and spread them smoothly over the chairs, under the burlaps. The layers of cotton can be tacked together before they are put in, and then they can be laid more smoothly upon the old canes. Fine hay will also answer for stuffing when nothing better can be procured. Now sew down the other two sides, and take pieces of carpeting, or enameled cloth, or colored rep, or all wool dress goods, and tack them closely down with large silvered or brass headed nails, which come for the purpose, and behold! your chairs are far handsomer and more comfortable than before. The materials have, possibly, cost you but little, for many an attic would furnish them all but the nails, which must be procured at the upholsterer's. Gimp to match the ground color of the cushion, or even worsted braid, so desirable to place along the edges of the covering, and drive the nails directly through it. This makes a handsomer finish to the cushion.

BONDS at Frankfort 98¾.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 27¼f.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 114¾.

THE Penn avenue act is proposed by Senator McNeill as a general law.

FROM present indications the $30,000,000 additional revenue asked by the Secretary of the Treasury will be put on several articles, chiefly sugars, spirits and tobacco. This will enable Secretary Bristow to put aside $30,000,000 annually for the Sinking Fund, which, from his interpretation of the law, is a necessity.

FIFTY dollars were left at this office yesterday, for the Kansas sufferers, by a lady residing at Wilkinsburg, who declines to have her name published. Several persons called for the purpose of leaving contributions before we were prepared for them. We are now ready to receive any money that may be left at our counting-room, and will see that it is properly forwarded.

AMONG the valuable publications of the day we class The Republic, a monthly published at Washington, D. C., and devoted to the dissemination of political information. It embodies each month a very careful synopsis of political events, is ably edited, and of great value to all who wish to follow intelligently the course of public events. It deserves, and apparently receives, a liberal support.

THE Almanac issued by the Albany Evening Journal is the fullest in political information of any that have been received at this office this year. It gives not only the votes of States, but even of the principal cities of the country. So far as we have examined the compilation of figures has been carefully and accurately made,—the whole comprising an extremely valuable handbook of political information.

ONE of the biggest transportation schemes, very much resembling a "job," now before Congress, is the Hennepin canal project. This is nothing more than a bill to authorize and provide for the construction of a canal, sixty-three miles long, from Hennepin to Rock Island, Illinois, which will cost about $10,000,000, although the bill calls for only about $1,000,000 this year. This would be a very fine thing for that part of Illinois, but it is questionable whether the whole people of the United States would be as well suited.

THE funeral of Mayor Blackmore was largely attended yesterday by all classes of citizens. The presence of large numbers of poor persons who had experienced the benefits of his generosity, was particularly noticeable. Delegations from the old force of police and from the several departments of City Government were present, and both branches of Councils were largely represented. Despite the coldness of the day the multitude lingered about the sidewalks till the services were ended, and then entered the residence to view, for the last time, the countenance of the deceased.

THE Alfonsists do not have the easy success over the Carlists that was anticipated when Alfonso galloped to the front. It was imagined that there would be a mere parade necessary, and the Carlists would throw down their arms or come over to the regulars in force. They have come over, but not exactly in the sense anticipated. A movement was made on the Alfonsist army, and it proved successful. The reverse is admitted at Madrid, but is called a "check," and is credited to the rashness of the General in charge. It is very possible that the effect will be to induce a longer continuance of the strife than might otherwise have happened.

CONGRESS has taken action on a subject that we commend to the earnest attention of the Legislature of this State. It is a bill reducing the number of hours of daily service of conductors and car drivers in Washington. The same evil that exists in that city may be found in this, and we judge, other cities of this Commonwealth. It matters not how prosperous city passenger railways are, or who they are managed by, the same rigid and parsimonious spirit obtains among them all. Car drivers and conductors on many, if not all the lines, during the extreme weather of the present winter, have been compelled to make from twelve to eighteen hours per day, and, in some instances, have been so continuously employed, that they have not had a warm meal for weeks. All this for two dollars per day. The rule that requires it is simply brutal, and should be prohibited by law. Were a reserve of say half a dozen, or even a less number of men employed, to relieve an equal number from extra labor, the cost would be small, and the relief great. When the pressure of the employes is so great, and the recompense so small, there is every possible temptation to dishonesty. The employes labor under a sense of injustice, and they feel a measure of justification for any advantages they may have a chance to take. We do not justify them, but merely state the case. A law should be passed for their relief.

A QUESTION ANSWERED.

A gentleman in the city writes us to say that he at present holds the office of Inspector of Elections, and has received the nomination for Judge of Election for the coming year, and wishes to know if he can serve as Inspector of Elections at the election at which he is candidate for Judge. Article 8, section 15 of the new Constitution says:

"No person shall be qualified to serve as [illegible] officer who shall hold, or shall [illegible] held any office, ap[illegible] or under the [illegible] f this [illegible]

by the Arkansas Congressional Committee, decides, as in duty bound, against Garland.

It should be borne in mind that the Arkansas Investigating Committee were unanimous in their statement of evidence showing the rebel character of Garland's so-called government, but differed only in recommendations, and that when the Brooks-Baxter case was before the Cabinet four months ago, the evidence recently furnished by the Investigating Committee had not been taken.

With the evidence now furnished the decision would doubtless have been in favor of Brooks, though Baxter presented a thousand times stronger case than Garland does.

RIVER IMPROVEMENT.

Our article of yesterday entitled "Lapsing Days," has elicited a statement to the effect that the Senate and probably the House at Washington take a more liberal view of our interests, as regards the improvement of the Ohio, than the movements of the Committee of Commerce would seem to indicate. It is thought that the committee will report the sum of $100,000, with which to begin work, which amount will possibly be increased in the House, and quite certainly in the Senate, to a reasonable figure. General Negley has been before the committee a number of times, and his arguments have been forcible and able; but so many enterprises of the kind are clamorous for aid that one necessarily jostles another, and thus even the best directed, and most strenuous efforts of our Congressman avails but little. Pittsburgh has, we fear, not been sufficiently self-helpful; but has depended very largely on its members, and a few interested gentlemen to bear the burthen of labor essential to this improvement. We cannot think of a more suitable field for effort on the part of the Chamber of Commerce than this of pressing upon the attention of the President and Congress the importance of the development of our great water way. Resolutions have been adopted, and a strongly-signed memorial forwarded; but there yet remains the sending of a committee, sufficiently strong in numbers and influence, to urge this subject, in the light of its importance, on the attention of the President and Congress.

In other parts of the country combinations are made between Congressmen, by which aid is secured to one place in return for help to secure a given amount in another direction. Thus there are places in the Northwest, of the most trifling importance, where large amounts are expended annually. A little town on Green Bay, Wisconsin, of not more than three thousand inhabitants, and with but little possibility of growth, and that has but a single element of trade—lumber—has received Government aid in the improvement of its harbor to the amount of nearly $200,000. The St. Croix river, in the same State, that is little more than a narrow, dirty stream, of the smallest possible value for navigable purposes, has been improved by the Government, at large expense. St. Anthony Falls, in Minnesota, which is, and ever must be, a mere water power to run mills, and which should, therefore, have been improved at private expense, was made what it is by Government outlay. The harbor of Duluth, which is more important than either of the places above mentioned, but which is, nevertheless, of comparatively small value, particularly in view of the fact that Superior City, a little way off, has naturally a good harbor, has also received considerable amounts in Government aid. The same is true of small tide-water rivers at the East.

We do not need to recapitulate the specific arguments in favor of the Ohio river improvement. True, we have, along its margin, large and flourishing cities; are prepared to transact business on its waters that will rival that of our most prosperous seaports; have, in the States that border it, one-third the entire population of the country; can develop more rapidly and with less loss our mineral resources and manufacturing power; can avoid losses that are now necessarily sustained; but this is not the ground on which the appropriation asked for is mainly urged. The claim is that the time has come for beginning a system of river improvements that shall extend from the seaboard waters to the Gulf of Mexico. This will include, we claim, the Ohio, and should involve its effective improvement as far as Pittsburgh. The Committee on Commerce and Congress itself have been so fully impressed with the importance of this movement that we need not advance arguments to convince where they are already convinced.

The only influence that will operate with especial power against the furtherance of this plan at the present, is the lack of funds in the United States Treasury. If $30,000,000 must be put into the Sinking Fund, and cannot be had without increased taxation, this argument becomes tangible and strong. We have yet to be convinced, however, that $30,000,000 annually cannot be saved by prudent economy. For example, there are $10,000,000 more appropriated to the Navy Department than were allowed that department a few years ago. So of the War Department; and if the pressure of the times has caused merchants to modify expenses, the same might be done by the General Government as regards its employes. We do not need to enter into details concerning items that will naturally suggest themselves to the interested parties. All this aside, and it remains true that the Sinking Fund, since the law regulating it was adopted, is over-paid, and hence need not be provided for by extra tariffs. It is thought by shrewd observers that were the policy of the Government shaped to revive business, this alone would replenish the treasury. Can a better method be thought of than that of developing the water ways of the country? And in this system, we claim that the Ohio river should be regarded first. The long and faithful service of our member in Congress, General Negley, the firm bearing of Allegheny county, in all times of political exigency, the vast trade of Pittsburgh, and cities along the course of the river, all call for prompt and liberal action on the part of Congress in favor of this subject.

A PLASTER model of the statue of George D. Prentice, which is to be placed over the doorway of the new building of the Louisville Courier-Journal, has been completed, and is pronounced by the friends of Mr. Prentice an excellent likeness. The figure represents him sitting in a chair, and his left hand resting upon a closed volume, and his right holding a quill pen. It will require perhaps ten months for its completion. The estimated cost of the statue, which will be eight feet in hight, is $10,000.

THE new leader of the English Liberals, the Marquis of Hartington, visited this country in 1863, and at an evening party at Mr. Belmont's, in New York, a lady who strongly sympathized with the rebels, pinned upon his coat a rosette made up of Confederate colors, to which he consented as a jest. Many of the gentlemen present who observed it interviewed the Marquis in the hall, and requested its removal, which was shortly afterward done. This little incident, together with other idiosyncracies of the new leader, indicates a "shallow-pated" statesman.

HOOD, the late State Librarian of Ohio, in his will left minute instructions as to how his funeral should be conducted. Among the provisions were: 3. That the coffin be of plain, unvarnished wood—it matters little of what material, so as it be no more expensive than well-seasoned walnut. I forbid all ornamentations, even brass nails. Plain iron screws, and the nails in common use for making boxes, will do. 4. If the distance be not too great, I prefer that the coffined body be taken to the grave on a bier, by neighbors or friends willing to do that last service for me. No funeral notices to be sent out. Let the obsequies be decent, certainly; but without display or an item of needless expense. I have long held these ideas, and wish them carried out.

AN officer of the First Empire, aged seventy-eight, who has for forty-one years been living on the modest pension of 800 francs a year, was recently compelled to enter the Hospital Necker, and was there discovered to be a woman. Her name is De Senkeisen, and the secret being out she readily related her history. She was fourteen years old when her father, Colonel Von Senkeisen, died, and her grandfather, who commanded a Bavarian corps in the French service, from some inexplicable caprice, compelled her to enter one of the regiments of his division. She served in Germany and in Spain, and at Waterloo received two somewhat severe wounds. In 1835 she became a naturalized Frenchman, and obtained a retiring pension. She has congratulatory letters from Marshals Berthier, Augereau and Suchet, and from General Dupont, testifying to her bravery and good service.

THE pastor of the Methodist church at Peterborough, N. H., has been barred out of his pulpit by his congregation because he had "recently exchanged with men of exceedingly liberal views," the good folks of his flock being determined, after the Scriptural injunction, to keep the path of their salvation very narrow.

IT appears from official statistics that the claim that the people of the United States are extremly liberal and generous in their support of the institutions of Christianity is not justified in a very flattering manner when considered in connection with their liberality in other particulars. For instance, there is expended as follows:

Salaries of ministers of the Gospel	$6,000,000
Cost of dogs	10,000,000
Support of criminals	12,000,000
Fees of litigation	35,000,000

HORRIBLE BRUTALITY.

The Wickedest Man in the Northwest.

Under this heading the Chicago Times relates the following: "Nelson Coleman, a farmer who resides about two and one-half miles north of Canton, Fulton county, this State, is probably the wickedest man in the Northwest. One day, ten years ago, he was trying to lead a colt into an old, rickety shed, when the animal became frightened and refused to enter. It was with a good deal of difficulty that he at last got the colt into the shed, and when he had succeeded he was so enraged that he swore the colt should never come out again alive. He kept his oath, and the poor beast has been imprisoned all these long ten years in the place about ten feet square. Winter and Summer it has been the same. The poor horse has stood at his crib and never breathed a breath of pure air, nor eaten a blade of grass. The long confinement stunned his growth, so that at the time of his death, which occurred a week ago, he was scarcely larger than a yearling. But he was sadly deformed. His hoofs had never received the attention of a blacksmith, and grown so long that they curled over and back so as to touch the shins. Any one of them must have been eighteen inches longer than the hoofs of horses usually are. The knowledge of the existence of such an object of man's depravity coming to the Illinois Humane Society in this city, one of its agents, Mr. E. C. Hamilton, was sent out to investigate the matter, and prosecute the owner of the poor beast for cruelty to animals. Coleman was arrested and tried on Saturday last. That this monstrous cruelty should have been allowed to go on from year to year by the Christian people of Canton, a place renowned for its churches and morality, is strange, and is only to be accounted for on the ground that everybody was afraid of Coleman, and no one dared take the first step towards prosecuting him."

AVALANCHE OF DEATH.

A Family Swept out of Existence.

(From the Quebec Chronicle, Feb. 4.)

Nestling under the promontory of Cape Diamond are numberless homesteads of the hardy, industrious people of whom Quebec is justly proud. Many of these houses are of wood, protected from the fall of gravel and shale by wooden uprights, and, perhaps, safe enough in their way. Examples have occurred to show that no dependence whatever may be placed upon such safeguards, and it is plain enough now that they afford no protection against snow. [illegible] storm which set in the night before [illegible]creased in force yesterday, [illegible] an additional load upon the [illegible] heap behind the house of Nicholas Haberland, on Champlain street, near the Mariners' Chapel. Like m[illegible] his neighbors, he had never paid much attention to the constantly accumulating load, nor would he, nor any one else in the neighborhood, have bothered about it without a warning of some very shocking character. Strange to say, last year this house was moved by a land-slide. So far as we have been enabled to learn, the lower portion of the house, a two-story wooden structure, was occupied by the family of the owner, Nicholas Haberland, and his family of four souls. The upper flat was rented by John Gibson, whose family was composed of his wife and five children, and in the attics was Mr. Haberland's mother, a bed-ridden woman of 75 years of age. A sudden crash about 9 o'clock was the signal of the impending catastrophe, for a huge mass of snow had fallen in the rear of the house. The old woman tried to give an alarm, and John Gibson's voice was heard calling to his wife, who had just entered the house from a visit to a neighbor across the road. Nearly everybody was in bed at the time but Haberland and his wife, who were fortunately saved, with their children. Soon there was another crash, and this was the crack of doom for the inmates of the house. The enormous masses of snow poised on the almost perpendicular face of the cliff came down with a furious force, and for a moment there was nothing but a whirl of fleecy white and a storm of scattering timbers. The house was wrecked in a flash, as it were, and its unfortunate inmates buried in a living grave. There was no time for preparation for their dread fate for them; in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, they were involved in destruction. The neighborhood was speedily aroused, and a few minutes after the wreck of the house there were hundreds busy with spade and shovel trying to extricate from the mass of debris spread across the street the bodies of the inmates of the house. For nearly an hour there was hard work with the constantly increasing crowd passing around, but the police soon interfered and enabled those who were in earnest to work unimpeded. The Haberland family—father, mother and three children—were taken out alive and well. They were immediately conveyed into a grocery store of Mr. Manning, opposite, where they were hospitably accommodated, and in the meantime the search went on. John Gibson's body was next found, and taken into Manning's and laid on a lounge. His face was placid, and he bore no appearance of pain, but, from the state of his clothing, we should say that he made a fearful struggle with death. A little girl was next recovered from the ruins and laid on the floor in the kitchen. Then there was found sticking through the snow a portion of the clothing of Mr. Haberland's mother-in-law, and she was shortly afterward recovered, but in a frightfully mangled condition in consequence of the chimney having fallen on her. Mrs. Gibson was next found. She had evidently been dead about an hour and was still warm. Her death seemed to have been attended with suffering. The children were gradually recovered, and they looked, with the exception of little Kate, just as peaceful as when they were put to bed. Finer children it would be hard to find than the little bodies lying on either side of their mother on the floor of Mrs. Manning's kitchen. The dead are: Johanna O'Keefe, wife of the late Patrick Haberland, aged 75 years; John Gibson, laborer, aged 35 years; Mary O'Brien, his wife, aged 36 years. Their children, John Francis, aged 9; Mary, 8; Richard, 6; Catharine, 4; and Eliza Ann, the baby, whose body was not recovered when we left at 3 o'clock this morning, aged 1 year. A terrible death-roll indeed.

TRANSIT OF VENUS.

Brilliant Success at Sydney—Description of the Transit Phenomena.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Dec. 23, 1874.

In the events of the past month the transit of Venus occupies a prominent position in the scientific world, so that what has been done in Australia in the way of observation is certain to be received with interest. In no part of the globe has the transit been seen under more favorable circumstances than at Sydney; not a cloud interposed to prevent a full and complete record of every phase of the phenomena. The results may be thus briefly summarized:—The first apparent break upon the face of the sun occurred three minutes later than was calculated by the astronomers. There was no appearance of a satellite, and there was no black drop.

TRIUMPH OF THE FRENCH SCIENTISTS.

In the latter the French school obtain an advantage over the English by proving their theory that the supposed black drop resulted from using an imperfect instrument. At the temporary observatory at Woodford something like the black drop was seen by one of the Surveyor General's party, but the observer informs me that he is certain it was an optical delusion caused by the inferior telescope used. The government astronomer saw the planet gradually meet the edge of the sun clear and well defined, surrounded by what appeared to him an atmosphere, which entirely vanished when Venus was on the sun's disk.

DENSITY AND HEIGHT OF VENUS' ATMOSPHERE.

This halo or atmosphere reappeared at egress, its diameter being about one second of an arc. The photographs taken number 1,310, and include about 500 at ingress, 460 at egress and 350 of the two bodies complete during the transit. It is also remarkable that when only a portion of Venus was on the sun the remainder was clearly defined in the sky. The distance between the solar cusps was smaller and the cusps sharper than was supposed.

DESCRIPTION OF THE TRANSIT PHENOMENA.

Mr. Tebbut, a distinguished amateur astronomer, says:—"A few seconds afterward it was obvious that the apparent contact had taken place, the planet's limb being seen slightly within that of the sun, but connected with it by a dusky ligament whose breadth was about one-fourth the diameter of the planet. Instead, however, of the solar cusps being squared off by this ligament they were rounded, the convexity being toward the ligament. In other words the ligament was contracted in the middle. It was also a shade lighter across the middle than along the limbs of the sun and planet. The more deeply shaded portion of this ligament resembled in color the limb of the moon when entering the earth's dark shadow during eclipse. The distance between the limbs of the sun and planet—for the solar limb at the point of contact could be faintly seen—could not at this time have exceeded a second of arc. During two or three beats of the half-seconds chronometer I noticed that this ligament vibrated or trembled, and at the same time resolved itself into several shaded streaks parallel to the limb of the sun and planet. They were then gradually, but quickly, absorbed, partly into the dark disc of Venus and partly into the black margin of sky lying along the sun's limb. Venus was then seen slightly within the solar limb, with the space between the two limbs as bright as the other portion of the solar disc. The disappearance of the shaded streaks, which phenomenon I regard as the real internal contact, occurred at 0h. 22m. 55s. local mean time, the counting of the chronometer half seconds being carefully verified by carrying it up to the next integer minute after the observation."—N. Y. Herald.

COTTON growing in Peru has been pronounced a failure, on account of a current of cold water which runs along the coast, and produces during the Summer months, a thick fog, extending far into the interior. The connection between this thick fog and the failure of cotton crops is ingeniously explained as follows: The mist settles on the cotton plant and bolls in the shape of large dew drops, and when the noonday sun breaks through the fog, these dew drops act as condensing lenses and gather the rays of the sun to such an extent before they are evaporated, that the bolls become hard and shrivelled, and thus the yield of the plant is destroyed. For this reason and for others arising from the uncertainty of the rain-fall in that country, cotton planting is being abandoned, and sugar cane is being cultivated. The latter is represented to be highly productive.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, February 11, 1875.

Quiet still continues in business and banking circles. The demand for loans is light, the aggregation of deposits heavy, and the current movements of money small. This must necessarily continue till business becomes more active. The strength of gold is the surprising feature of general monetary movements, and is variously accounted for. The drain of gold to France to meet the demands consequent upon the resumption of specie payments, and to England to pay for United States bonds that are being sent to us, account quite largely for the drain of gold and the advance in the premium. There are no movements in real estate of special moment.

—The Paris correspondent of the London Times says: "The imports of France during 1874 amounted to 3,748,011,000f. and the exports to 3,877,753,000f., making a total of 7,625,764,000f. This exceeds any former year, the total in 1874 being 7,342,000,000f. and in 1873, 7,332,000,000f. The year of the war, 1870-1871, affords no fair comparison; but as compared with 1868 the past year shows an increase of 1,398,000,000f. As regards the imports of natural productions and materials, they exhibit an increase of 253,799,000f. over 1868; and as regards the exports of manufactured articles one of 595,454,000f. Up to July last French commerce was below the figures of the previous year, while the exports fell below the imports; but an improvement afterwards set in, and the result of the whole year is an increase of nearly 284,000,000f. over the previous twelve months, the exports being, moreover, 13,000,000f. in excess of the imports."

—By the following paragraph from the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle of the 27th ult. another batch of Southern bonds are discredited. That paper says:

The committee appointed to consider the validity of the Alabama and Chattanooga State endorsed bonds have reported that $394,000 of those bonds received the endorsement of the State without compliance with the legal perquisites, and are, consequently, as far as that endorsement is concerned, null and void.

—There is a report, coming from generally well informed sources, that the Committee on Ways and Means intend recommending the imposition of 10 per cent. duty on wool. Some mill owners who use foreign wools started their factories recently to give employment to their hands, not with the expectation of making a profit, but if this duty is put on the raw material they will stop operations until the market is sufficently strong to offer better inducements.

—We see it stated that the German holders of bonds of the California Pacific Railroad have brought an action against the California Pacific Railroad Company and the Extension Company for the appointment of two trustees of a certain mortgage executed by the former company as security for loans issued by the Extension Company.

—It is reported from Washington that the tea and coffee tax has been abandoned, at least for the present, so that those who have purchased large amounts of those articles, in the expectation that the tariff of ten cents on the one and three on the other would be imposed, will find that they have put their faith in politicians with the usual result.

—The gold coinage of the United States mints during January was $1,782,660; the subsidiary silver coinage, $416,255; the trade dollar coinage, $920,300. Six hundred and ninety-five thousand dollars of the new trade dollar were coined at San Francisco, and $641,000 of them were sent to China during the month.

—The customs receipts for the week ending January 30 were: From New York, $1,823,826; Philadeldhia, $127,284; Baltimore, $73,616. The receipts at New Orleans for the week ending January 23 were $48,624.

—Mr. A. H. Burley has taken charge of the Cook County National Bank as Receiver, and has began his examination of its affairs. He is assisted by the President, M. B. F. Allen, and Mr. Spink, the Government Examiner.

—Private cable dispatches to New York bankers confirm the reports that the drain of gold from the Bank of England is to Paris, on account of the new loan of 250,000,000 francs just put on the market by that city.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

DAILY REPORT OF PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, Feb. 10, 1875.

The general trade movement continues meagre, if anything, rather better than it has been, and the fact that there is an improved feeling in commercial circles indicates a restoration in confidence. According to the annual circular of the Mercantile Agency of Dunn, Barlow & Co., it appears that while the failures in the United States the past year were greater than during the preceding year, the liabilities were materially less. Since the panic shrewd merchants have been engaged in arranging their expenses so that their payments have been easily met for some months past, and the tendency to over-trade has given place to a conservative and altogether healthier state of affairs in the business world.

APPLES—Sales, in a jobbing way, at $2@2,50 ₱ bbl for fair to prime; choice, $2,75@3.

APPLE BUTTER—50@60c ₱ gal.

BEANS—Quotable at $1,75@1,80 ₱ bushel for mediums; navies, $1,90@2.

BUTTER—Prime to choice rolls is in very fair demand, and the market may be quoted steady at 28@30c. There is not much inquiry for the common grades, and dealers, in view of the fact that prices are higher here than in the east, and the supply in first hands is large, have but little confidence in the future of the market.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—3@3¼c ₱ lb.

CHEESE—Prime Ohio Goshen, in a jobbing way, 16½@17; New York do, 17½@18.

CRANBERRIES—$10@12 ₱ bbl.

DRIED FRUIT—There is a fair demand for Apples, and the market is steady, with sales at 7@8 for fair to prime. Peaches, however, continue dull and prices are weaker; quotable at 8@9.

DRESSED HOGS—8@9c ₱ lb.

EGGS—The receipts of fresh have been light for some time, and with a fair demand and a very light supply, the market may be quoted steady at 29@30c; pickled, 20@23c.

FLOUR—Our New York dispatch, under date of yesterday, reported that market dull, while Chicago, on the other hand, was quoted firm. Spring wheat flours, $5,40@5,50 for Wisconsins, and $5,50@5,60 for Minnesotas; winters, $5,60@5,90, and $6@6,25 for amber and white. Rye Flour $5,50@5,75.

GROCERIES—There is no perceptible improvement to note in the grocery trade, but it is hoped and expected that there will be as soon as the extreme cold weather which we have had recently has subsided. Our advices from the east continue to report Coffee dull, with the stock accumulating; a stronger disposition to realize prices are lower; there has been a decline of fully 1c ₱ lb in New York and Baltimore within the past two or three days. Sugars and Molasses, in sympathy with everything else, is dull, but it is thought there will be no material decline in prices.

GRAIN—Trade in grain circles continues quiet, the demand is still restricted to supplying immediate wants, as both retailers and consumers as well, appear determined not to carry any more stock than they can help, and we do not look for any decided or permanent improvement until there has been a revival in general business, which, it is not likely, will be much longer delayed. The market for Wheat continue quiet and unchanged; Penna and Ohio red, $1,14@1,16 and $1,18@1,20 for amber and white. The Oat market is steady, with a light supply, but prices remain about as last quoted; 62@63c for mixed and 64@65 foe white. As noted in our last report, ear Corn is a shade firmer, in consequence of diminished receipts; quotable at 70@75. Shelled Corn continues slow but unchanged at 72@75, as to quality. Rye, $1,10@1,12.

PROVISIONS—While business continues fairly active, the general tone of the market is offish, under the influence of the advices from the west, and it is possible that a good buyer might be able just now to discount our quotations slightly.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, Feb. 10, 1875.
PITTSBURGH CENTRAL STOCK YARDS.

ARRIVALS.

Following were the arrivals at these yards from and including Sunday up until noon to-day, and, to afford a comparison, we append those of same time last week also:

	Cattle.	Hogs.	Sheep.
Sunday	43 cars.	23 cars.	9 cars.
Monday	5 "	5 "	3 "
Tuesday	26 "	27 "	21 "
Wednesday	72 "	21 "	22 "
Total	148 "	56 "	55 "
Same time last week	244 "	85 "	60 "

TRADE IN GENERAL.

The most noticeable feature we have to report in connection with the live stock trade is the large falling off in the receipts; as will be seen, the arrivals of cattle show a falling off of 98 cars, as compared with the corresponding time last week, and the run of hogs and sheep has also been unusually light. It is true that the severity of the weather and slippery condition of the country roads renders it, in many places, almost impossible to drive either cattle or hogs to points on the railroads for shipment, but there is another reason to which we shall here take occasion to refer. It is stated, on what we consider good authority, that the Vanderbilt railroad is carrying stock much cheaper from the west to the east than the Penna Company, as is also the Baltimore and Ohio, and there is not much doubt but what a good deal of stock that formerly came this way is now going east by the routes in question. We understand that the rate from Buffalo to New York has been reduced recently, it is supposed in the interest of the new Bull's Head Yards, opened up for business last Monday, for the first time, about 30 ₱ cent.

Briggs, Dock & Drum, Wholesale Commission Dealers in Cattle, Hogs and Sheep at the Central (East Liberty) Stock Yards, report the market as follows:

CATTLE.

The market is considerably firmer and more active than it was last week, and with a supply unequal to the demand, prices have been advanced 20@25c ₱ cwt; the bulk of the offerings thus far have consisted of the medium grade, common cattle were in light supply, and the number of those grading prime to extra was small, and salesmen generally appear to think that the kind just named sold more readily and at relatively better prices than either common or the best. There is no question but what sellers have had the advantage, which may be attributed mainly to the very limited supply, although the fact that the advices to-day, both from New York and Baltimore, were favorable, was not without its effect. Up until noon to-day 30 cars had been purchased for shipment to Philadelphia, 6 cars to Baltimore and 5 cars to New York—the whole number aggregated 990 head, against 1,065 head during the corresponding time last week. The arrivals from and including Sunday up until noon to-day show a falling off of 98 cars, as compared with the same time last week, when they were thought to be small, and the indications are that the market will hold its own during the balance of the week—that the advance will be fully sustained.

QUOTATIONS

Prime 1,450@1,500 lb steers, even and smooth	7,00@7,25
Prime 1,300@1,400 steers	6,50@6,75
Good 1,100@1,200 steers	5,75@6,00
Mixed stock, as to quality	4,50@5,25
Old cows and stags	3,50@4,00

HOGS.

The receipts within the past few days have been light, unusually so, footing up but 56 cars since Sunday, and with only a moderate demand, the market has stiffened up very materially, and as compared with the date of our last review, prices have advanced 25@30c per cwt; not only has the run been light, but the bulk of the offerings were common in point of quality, and sellers, in consequence, have been enabled to realize prices for common hogs that were paid for the better grade last week. In regard to the immediate future of the market, it is unsafe to venture an opinion, but as long as the receipts continue as light as they have during the past few days, there is not much likelihood of a decline, although our reports from Chicago and other points west report the product on the back track. As will be noticed, we do not quote Philadelphia hogs above 7,90, but fancy would bring 8c without difficulty.

QUOTATIONS.

Good Philadelphia Hogs	7,75@7,90
Mixed Hogs	7,20@7,50
Good York Hogs	6,90@7,10
Light Pigs	6,70@6,80
Roughs, Stags, etc., etc	5,00@6,25

SHEEP.

The "run" of sheep has also been light, and the supply was scarcely equal to the demand, prices have been advanced 20@25c per cwt; at the advance they have been selling just about as fast as they arrived, and the mark t is better for the seller interest than it has been for some time. At noon to-day there were very few if any remaining unsold, and the indications are that prices will be fully sustained during the balance of the week.

QUOTATIONS

Prime 90@95 lb Sheep	5,75@6,00

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, Feb. 10, 1875.

There has been quite a reaction in the Crude market within the past 48 hours, for which various reasons are assigned, one of which is that the brokers as well as producers are having trouble in negotiating their drafts with the banks in the oil country. The latest dispatches report that there were plenty of sellers and no buyers; "United" quoted at $1,60 at wells, and immediate shipment at $1,80, a decline of 15@20c ₱ bbl as compared with Saturday and Monday. It is probable, however, that the market will stiffen up again before long, although we understand that a good many of the tankers are willing to sell at about two dollars, and this, no doubt, had something to do with the break to which reference has just been made. Refined continues dull and nominal, in sympathy, no doubt, with the raw article. Baltimore buyers have been out of the market for several days in consequence of the scarcity of tonnage; and we understand that vessels are scarce at New York and Philadelphia also. On cars here quoted nominally at 11¼ to go to Baltimore; Philadelphia delivery, 14½.

The Barrel market continues exceedingly dull; countries, $1,05@1,10; city makes $1,25.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, February 10.—There was a brisk movement in fancy and shirting prints and ginghams. Brown and bleached cottons, denims, corset jeans and rolled jaconets are in steady request, and firm at current rates. Cottonades are active and firm. Amoskeag ginghams advanced to 12c. Worsted dress fabrics are less active. Cotton hosiery is in good demand. Housekeeping linens, white goods and Hamburg embroideries are fairly active.

Wool.

BOSTON, February 10.—Wool remains quiet. Manufacturers purchase only in lots as wanted. Holders are still confident and not disposed to press sales at any concession. Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces 53@57c for XXX and medium; Wisconsin and Michigan 49@52c for combing and delaine fleeces, 50@60c for washed, and 42@45c for unwashed; supers 45@55c; choice X 50@52½c.

Philadelphia Cattle Market.

BEEF CATTLE.—The demand for the better grades of Beef Cattle was quite animated to-day, and the supply being moderate very full figures, as a rule, were obtained. Buyers of other descriptions, however, were decidedly slow in satisfying their wants, the comparatively liberal offerings at a shade lower prices than prevailed last week, failing to increase the volume of business. We quote extra at 7⅞@8c; prime at 7½@7¾c; fair to good at 6@7c; common at 4¾@5¼c. Receipts, 2,700 head.

SHEEP, under a sharp demand, which was pretty well distributed, and a comparatively light run, a shade better prices were realized, the market closing firm by the improvement. Sales of prime at 6¾@7c, fair to good at 6@6¾c, common at 5¼@5½c, and pelters at $2,75@3,25. Lambs changed hands at 6@7½c for the best, 5@5½c for fair to good, and 4@5c for common. Receipts, 10,000 head.

HOGS also met with an increased demand, but holders failed to realize any better prices. Sales of corn fed at $10@10,50 ₱ 100 lbs net. Receipts, 5,500 head.

Cincinnati Iron Market.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 9.—The demand for pig iron is fair, but the market is devoid of excitement, and there seems to be no indications of better prices at an early period. A considerable quantity has passed into the hands of consumers since the 1st inst., but there is no manifest disposition to purchase further in fear of higher prices, notwithstanding the better feeling and the general expectation of an increased demand. It is evident, therefore, that iron masters should hold to the policy adopted with reference to diminished production, and not be influenced to change on account of the better feeling now prevailing, as the quantity on hand, and present arrangements for production are likely to be fully equal to the demand of the coming year. There is no foundry iron selling at figures above $28, 4 months, and holders are ready to supply abundantly at that price. Charcoal mill is scarce, and the price firm at $26, time, with a large demand, somewhat in excess of the supply.

Hay Markets.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—There was some speculative inquiry for timothy, but few transactions were mentioned, and those were confined chiefly to filling small orders. The market was firm, however. Prairie was wanted for home consumption, and, being in moderate supply, advanced 50c ₱ ton, closing firm. Quotations: No. 1, $17@17,50; No. 2 do., $12,50@15,00; mixed, $13,50@14; choice upland prairie, $12,50@13; No. 1 do., $11,50@12; No. 2 or [illegible]

CINCINNATI, Feb. 9.—The demand is fair, and with light receipts prices are sustained. We quote loose pressed timothy at $22@25; tight do., 19@21 ₱ ton, and lower grades at $14@18 on arrival, and $1@2 more from store.

GEORGE H. ROHE,
Sergeant, Signal Service, U. S. A.

THE weather moderated considerably yesterday, and according to "Old Probabilities," we are to have rain or snow within the next day or two. The wind has changed around to the east, and the thermometer last evening marked 28 above zero. Business at the landing continues very quiet, and no improvement need be looked for until navigation has been resumed.

THE St. Louis Democrat says the Ohio River decline has set in, and it is general from Pittsburgh to Cairo. Navigation remains virtually suspended at nearly all Ohio River points.

CAPT. N. J. BEHAN and H. C. Teeter, both river men, have purchased the stock and good will of the Meigs County, Ohio, News, and took possession Monday, and hereafter will be the sole editors and proprietors of the same.

CAPTAIN REES W. DUGAN telegraphs Captain John Kyle, President of the Western Wrecking Company, that it is doubtful whether the St. Francis, recently sunk in White river can be raised. She is badly broken. The T. F. Eckert is at the wreck with her three powerful pumps.

THE Wheeling Intelligencer of yesterday says: There is no river news to report. The river has fallen considerably, and is still filled with floating ice. The steamboatmen are laying on their oars, waiting patiently for an open river. If the weather does not moderate soon, the Ohio will be closed for the second time this winter.

THE St. Louis Globe of Monday says:—The A. J. Baker and barges, Captain Tom Poe, left Cairo Saturday evening with 1,200 tons for New Orleans. She has a return barge of 1,200 tons railroad iron engaged at New Orleans for some point on the Ohio River. The Mississippi Valley Transportation Company is negotiating for the building of a couple of Dubuque propellers, and parties are in the city from New Orleans and Texas for the same purpose.

SUNDAY'S New Orleans Picayune says: Business was good on the landing, and all of the departing steamers left with excellent trips of freight. The Paragon, for the Ohio river, had one of the best trips of the season—nearly 1,000 tons of miscellaneous freight. The Belle of Shreveport, for St. Louis, had upward of 400 tons of freight, including 400 hhds sugar. Telegrams received from the Ouachita, Bayou Macon and Minden, yesterday, report the river falling.

WEDNESDAY'S Cincinnati Commercial says:—Miss Trunnell, a sister of George Trunnell, one of the pilots of the Exporter, was reported dying of consumption, last night, at the residence of her mother, in Newport, Kentucky...... A great deal of freight for New Orleans is accumulating at Madison, awaiting shipment as soon as the river opens. ......It is believed that efforts will be made to increase the number of mail routes on the Western and Southern waters, which, it is claimed, have in many instances proved inadequate. Congress has taken the subject into consideration.

A MEMPHIS paper, of the 7th, says:—The steamer James D. Parker is to stay in our port until after Mardi-Gras, and will be converted into temporary hotels at the rate of $2 per day. The R. W. Dugan comes into the list, and a dozen other boats may be expected to likewise. The river mail contract business is all in a muddle at the national capital. Captains John Boffinger and Hart Able have been making bids for all river cities from New Orleans to St. Louis, but lobbyists and others knocked them sky-high; then others put in bids, the Post-master-General got mad, and just at present the White and Arkansas River mail-boats seem to be in a state of suspension. They may yet come out all right, however.

A MAYSVILLE (KY.) paper says: The first vessel ever built upon the Western waters was the brig Dean, launched at Allegheny City, Pa., in 1806.—[Cincinnati Commercial.] The Commercial is sadly at fault, as will be seen by the following extract, which we are permitted to make from the "nail-keg" edition of the "History of Mason County": "A strong, well-built ship was launched at Limestone, April 2, 1804, to the extreme gratification of a large crowd. This vessel was named Mary of Maysville. The Penrose also was built at the yards near this place during 1806, and crossed the falls April 16, 1807. The Western Trader anchored off Limestone January 30, 1806. The Nonpareil, a schooner of 70 tons, a large square sail, full rigged except sails, arrived at Limestone in April, 1804, with the following cargo: 2,600 barrels flour, 50 barrels kiln-dried meal, 4,000 pounds cheese, 6,000 pounds bacon, grindstones, 100 seis staves, etc. The Nonpareil was built at Marietta. Baker Devol was captain; Charles Devol, P. Green, Thomas and Bill, voyageurs; Mr. Mansfield, son, nephew and servant as passengers. The new steamer City of Knoxville has been satisfactorily examined at Chattanooga.—Maysville Republican.

The Show Didn't Come Off.

Several days ago a party who gave his name as Signor Blitz rented a hall on Washington avenue, Allegheny, for the purpose of giving some sort of an entertainment on Tuesday and last evenings. On Tuesday evening he had an audience of fifteen persons. He returned the money to the parties and did not have any show that evening. Last evening there were about twenty-five persons in the hall, which so disgusted him that he quietly walked off and let them sit until they were tired.

FIRE THIS MORNING.

Loss About One Hundred and Fifty Dollars.

At five minutes before two o'clock this morning an alarm of fire was turned on from box 21, which called the engines to the corner of Seventh street and Duquesne Way. The fire was found to be in the office of Mr. James P. Woods, dealer in oil and barrel staves, in Sill's building on Duquesne Way between Eighth and Ninth streets. It had been caused by a cinder falling from the grate which resulted in burning a large hole in the floor. The loss will reach about $150.

CITIZENS' OIL REFINING CO.

A Petition to have the Corporation Declared Bankrupt.

Yesterday afternoon a petition was filed in the United States District Court by fourteen bankers of this city and three private firms to have the Citizens' Oil Refining Company declared bankrupt. The papers had been in preparation the entire day, and did not reach the clerk's office until late in the evening, so no action was taken upon them. The matter will come up before Judge McCandless this morning, when in all probability the petition will be referred to Register Shaffer for examination and report. As yet, no schedule of the liabilities and assets of the company has been filed, but it will be forthcoming at an early day.

ALLEGHENY CITY PROPERTY.

Improvement at the Mayor's Office—Additions to the Ninth Ward Lock-up—The Columbia Property on Anderson Street.

The Committee on City Property of Allegheny Councils met last evening, Mr. George A. Cochran in the chair.

A communication from the Mayor was received, asking that his private office be enlarged and a partition placed in it to divide it into two rooms, one for himself and one for the clerk, where the business of the office should be transacted. The chairman of the committee was authorized to have a plan prepared as requested by the Mayor, and to receive bids for making the improvement.

The Chairman was also authorized to have a wash-trough for washing hose, placed in the Columbia Engine House, and also to have shades placed on the windows.

Messrs. Wilson, Thompson and Burton were appointed a sub committee to ascertain the cost of placing sheets of iron around the walls, floor and ceiling of one of the cells of the Ninth Ward Station House.

The Solicitor was requested to inform the committee whether they had the legal right to sell the property on Anderson street, formerly occupied by the Columbia Engine Company.

RESOLUTIONS OF REGRET.

Action of the Employes of the American Iron Works.

At a meeting of the heads of the various departments of the American Iron Works, held at the works at two o'clock yesterday afternoon, the announcement was made of the death of Mr. Geo. W. Jones, one of the proprietors and for twenty years manager of the works. A committee, consisting of Messrs. John Larimer, E. L. Wood, James Morgan, Jacob Gue and Wm. J. Early, was appointed to prepare resolutions expressive of the feelings of the employes of the works. The following was subsequently submitted:

WHEREAS, We have learned with unfeigned sorrow of the death of Mr. Geo. W. Jones, one of our employers, and a gentleman who has for many years been intimately associated with us as manager of these works, therefore,

Resolved, That in the death of Mr. Jones, we have lost a warm friend, a kind employer, and one who has always endeared himself to us by his genial manners and urbanity.

Resolved, That we attend the funeral in a body, and that a record of this action be presented to his family, as expressive of the warm friendship felt for the deceased by those who have had the best opportunity to learn and appreciate his good qualities of head and heart.

The resolutions were unanimously passed.

THE POOR GUARDIANS.

Officers Elected at Yesterday's Meeting.

The Guardians of the Poor met yesterday morning for the purpose of completing their organization for the present year. The committee appointed at the last meeting to make recommendations in regard to officers and salaries submitted a report, recommending that there be no changes except the following: That the office of Assistant Secretary be abolished and a clerk elected in his stead, at a salary of $800; each city physician (three in all) to receive $600 instead of $700, and that $500 be added to the other two physicians as heretofore, and that the messenger be paid $650 instead of $600. The report was amended so as to authorize the monthly committee to employ an additional messenger whenever it was considered necessary, and then adopted. The election of officers was then proceeded with and resulted as follows: Secretary, J. B. Williams. Clerk, James Beck. Treasurer, Wm. Hart. Superintendent of City Farm, Wm. S. Bullock. Physician to the City Farm, Dr. Brewster. For City Physician of the South Side district, Dr. Chessrown was elected by acclamation. Dr. Purviance was elected for the first district, and Dr. A. E. McCandless for the second district. James F. Kuhn was chosen Solicitor, and Joseph Fairman Engineer of the City Farm. Mr. Hartley gave notice that at the next meeting he would offer an amendment to the rules, providing for an increase in the amount of the bonds of Secretary, Superintendent and Treasurer. The monthly committees for the year were appointed and the Board adjourned.

DEATH UNDER THE WHEELS.

An Unknown Man Horribly Mangled on the P. R. R.

Last evening shortly before six o'clock, an unknown man was run over near Hawkins Station, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, about nine miles from this city, by the No. 2 Brinton accommodation train, which leaves the Union Depot at twenty minutes past five. The train was rounding a curve at the place of the accident, and had just passed a freight which was going west, and it is supposed the unfortunate man's attention had been attracted by this train, when the one going East struck him, passing over his head, shoulders and arms, severing them from his body. His right leg was also cut off above the knee. His head was so badly crushed and scattered that in gathering up the remains only a small portion of the scalp could be found. His body was placed on the first train coming toward the city and brought to the Union Depot; when the coroner was notified, and the remains taken to Williams' undertaking rooms on Fifth avenue. An examination of his pockets and papers gave no clue as to his place of residence, and his name could not be ascertained. He had a wallet which contained a few clothes and a Catholic prayer book and from all appearances he was an Irishman. It is supposed that he was a tramp and was living off of the charities of the public, as he had no money on his person. An inquest will be held this morning at half-past nine o'clock, when the matter will be more fully investigated.

MAYOR BLACKMORE'S FUNERAL.

The Obsequies Yesterday Afternoon—Testimonial Adopted by the City Councils—The Cortege.

The funeral of the late Mayor Blackmore took place yesterday, and the remains were interred in Allegheny Cemetery. Wylie avenue, in front of the residence of the deceased, was crowded with thousands of persons who had come to take a parting look at the body, and witness the ceremonies. Hundreds availed themselves of the opportunity to snatch a glimpse of the remains. The coffin was of highly polished black wood, very much resembling ebony, and was ornamented with mountings of solid German silver. It was lined with silk satin and the plate on the lid was engraved with Masonic emblems and inscriptions. On the casket was an elegant display of flowers. A cross of pure white camelias lay at the foot, at the head a crown, and in the center a heart made of the same flowers.

At one o'clock the City Councils held an adjourned meeting for the purpose of adopting resolutions expressive of regret at the death of Mayor Blackmore. Both branches met in joint session, Presidents Gross and Negley presiding

Mr. Fetterman, from the Committee on Resolutions, presented the following:

Resolved, That the following testimonial to the memory of the late Hon. James Blackmore be entered at length upon the minutes of these Councils; that a committee of five be appointed to present to the family of deceased a copy thereof.

The Councils of the City of Pittsburgh have received with sincere sorrow the announcement of the death of Hon. James Blackmore, late Chief Magistrate of this city, and whilst inscribing upon their minutes a record of the sorrowful event, they also desire to express, and as far as may be, perpetuate the memory of one who had been for so many years a prominent actor in the Councils and business of this community, and which event bereaved an estimable family of an effectionate husband and father. Denied in early life the advantages of schools and teachers, such as now afford facilities to all for a good education, he yet, by his own diligent efforts, became a thoroughly well informed and intelligent man in all the practical business of life—in his private as well as public, life attaining an enviable success, and establishing a character for ability and integrity never seriously questioned, save in the passion of personal or partisan strife. In the office of Mayor of the city, to which he was twice elected, he was always, in the judgment of those whose knowledge qualified them to judge, earnestly desirous of doing his whole duty, and the failures in his administration, if any, were such as are inseparable from human infirmity, and traceable to the ready confidence he reposed in those around him, and to his warm, gentle and kindly nature. Few in such difficult and responsible positions have ever borne themselves so impartially and justly amid contending partisan interests or have won so general respect and affection from men of all parties and sects, as he carries with him to his grave, and to which we to-day are pleased, though in sorrow, to give expression. In his private life and relations he exhibited the most attractive qualities, gentleness of temper, considerate regard for the feelings and opinions of others, and a readiness to oblige which scarcely knew any limits, and to which was mainly due the misfortune which clouded his later years; and a large-hearted charity, a liberality which made him the active friend of the poor and oppressed, justly endeared him to all who really knew him, and will long embalm his memory in the hearts of his fellow-citizens. To his bereaved family we tender our warmest sympathy, and trust that in this their hour of bitter affliction, they may find that consolation which the world cannot give, and support in the blessed hope of re-union with him in that everlasting home into which no enemy ever entered, and from which no friend ever came away.

On motion of Mr. Holliday the resolutions were adopted.

On motion of Mr. Shipton it was directed that the Council chambers should be draped in mourning for thirty days.

Councils then adjourned and proceeded in a body to the house of the deceased.

The constabulary force of the city, old and new, assembled at the Central Police Station at half past one o'clock, preparatory to proceeding to the house. The religious services at the residence were conducted by Rev. Mr. Laird, pastor of the Seventh avenue Lutheran church. His remarks, which were very impressive, were listened to with close attention. When he had concluded the remains were taken charge of by the Masons, and deposited in the hearse, when the funeral cortege moved off in the following order: Detachment of police followed by the Great Western Band, Duquesne Greys, city police force in full uniform, ex-policemen in full uniform, lodges of Masons and Knights Templar, pall bearers in carriages, hearse with a guard of police, mourners, Councilmen and friends. Among the pall bearers were Judge Collier and Mayor McCarthy. The latter is a member of Masonic Lodge No. 45, to which the deceased also belonged. The funeral attracted great attention, and the streets along which it passed were crowded with spectators. The services at the cemetery were conducted in accordance with the rites of Masonry.

"HERE WE ARE AGAIN."

Another Contribution to that "Sunset" Controversial Literature—Mr. Jones Rises to Explain—He Maintains the Integrity of His First Statement and Cites the Evidence.

We present this morning another statement concerning that interesting controversy relative to the memorable visit of the facetious "Sunset" Cox, to our city.

The seeming delay in the appearance of this latest effusion is explained by the absence of Mr. Jones from the city, and his blissful ignorance of the exciting conflict which waged while he was hundreds of miles away. Seizing the first opportunity after his return home, he rises to explain, and does so in the lucid and entertaining statement hereto appended.

Mr. Jones' Reply.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 8, 1875.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

DEAR SIRS:—On my return from the National Capital, on Monday afternoon, I was informed that during my absence you had published the substance of an interview, which an esteemed member of your reportorial corps had with me on the subject of Hon. S. S. Cox, and his artful proceeding at the Monongahela House, and that the item had created quite a sensation.

Now, Messrs. Editors, I had no idea of paying any attention to the newspaper squibs and personals having relation thereto, but when I discovered that the high and mighty Chairman of the Lecture Committee had rushed into print with one of his conciliatory letters reflecting on me, and defending the doubtful conduct of the Congressman, I have thought it necessary, yea! it is my duty to take up the cudgels in my own defense. Permit me then to avail myself of your columns to tell a plain, unvarnished tale, and to correct the many errors contained in the Chairman's epistle.

Now know you that imprimis. I much regret that you published my remarks at all, for I would not intentionally injure Mr. Cox in any way. I know that I did not forbid the publication of them, and I am sorry that I did not. Secondly, I firmly and most decidedly aver that all I said to your reporter was strictly true and correct, and besides, the communication above referred to nowhere controverts or contradicts my statements.

Let me then explain in a lucid and detailed manner my entire connection with this unpleasant affair, and afterwards correct the chairman's errors seriatim.

When Mr. C. arrived at the Monongahela House I was the first member of the committee to call upon him. He received me with the utmost cordiality, and we conversed for half an hour on general subjects. Just before I left he said:

"By the by, what do you pay lecturers here?"

I answered, "From fifty to one hundred and fifty dollars."

"Well," asked he, "who receives two hundred dollars?"

"Dan. Dougherty and gentlemen of that ilk," I replied.

"If that is the case," remarked the Congressional colossus, "don't you think that I ought to receive the same as Dougherty?" I want the largest fee, as my election expenses have been very heavy."

I answered: "If you have no arrangement with the committee as to compensation, we can only pay you what the size of your audience will justify; if it is very large, as we trust it will be, we can afford to give you an outside figure. If the house is small we will pay you accordingly."

"All right," said the "wit of the House," and I bowed myself out.

During the day I met our worthy Chairman and told him that Cox desired a goodly fee. The gentleman laughed, and said he should not get a cent more than one hundred and fifty dollars.

Well, the lecture was delivered, and you and your readers know what it was. Our apologetic chairman attempts to condone this unpardonable offence of Mr. Cox in delivering such a mass of undigested trash to an intelligent audience, by stating that he was "crowded with official business, &c." Pish! The lecture had been read twenty times before.

The house was fair—not full. After the affair was over Mr. Cox was handsomely entertained by several members of the committee, and was escorted to the hotel by Mr. ——, who settled with him.

A day or two afterwards this gentleman told me that Cox had played rather a shabby trick on the committee. That at first he demurred at accepting the fee of one hundred and fifty dollars, but when he was told that he had no more to give him, he said, "Well, pay my hotel bill and I will be satisfied." The honorable gentleman left for the east on the Pacific Express, but the next day when our committee-man went to pay the bill, he found a charge in addition to the regular bill of twelve and one-half dollars, for a ticket to New York. This was wholly unauthorized, but the account was paid, and the committee to a man was shocked, especially was our excellent chairman grieved, and so he expressed himself to me.

Now this is the whole story, and as it stands let it be recorded. There is no use in any member ofo ur committee endeavoring to screen the many faults of our lecturers. We have enough to answer for in engaging some of them without trying to apologize for their individual errors.

As to the statement that the Chairman of the committee fixes the fees of the lecturers, that is simply nonsense. The Lecture Bureaus regulate the fees; moreover, if the Chairman arranges the compensation, why did he not settle the matter of ours with Cox beforehand.

I confess that we were indebted to the kindly offices of an excellent gentleman of our city in effecting the engagement with Mr. Cox. but we think the almighty dollar had some influence in bringing him here.

He states that he was favorably impressed with the dignified bearing etc. Now he had but a few minutes conversation with the great man and had no chance to observe his bearing.

I might add that while in Washington city I had an interview with Mr. C. at the Arington Hotel last Wednesday, the day of the date of his epistle, and he made no mention of the "little epistode." It would be an unpleasant subject I fancy.

In conclusion, permit me to say that no "subsequent investigation" ever has or ever will satisfactorily convince me as to the correctness of Mr. Cox's conduct in the premises. With great respect.

BEVERLEY JONES.

Thus have all sides had a hearing, and naught now remains but for some one to meander along with the olive branch and a little soothing syrup to the end that peace may reign again, and that there may be a restoration of the wonted equilibrium; and in the confident hope that the war paint has been all washed away and the tomahawk now buried, we suggest to these dear friends that they all clasp hands again, and let the curtain be rung down on the touching tableau.

THE MUNICIPAL INCOME.

The Estimated and Actual Receipts of Last Year.

The following financial exhibit, prepared by Controller Snodgrass, shows the estimated and actual receipts of last year. A subtraction of the totals will make an apparent deficit of $131,821.15, but this sum has been reduced by revenues from other sources, not among the estimated receipts, to about $113,000.

The Controller states that there remains $318,000 of uncollected taxes levied for 1874, of which amount probably $120,000 is involved in the Kitty Roup case. Of the $4,500,000 of water bonds issued, about $86,000 have been retired, leaving outstanding $4,414,000.

If We Knew.

If we only knew which of us will secure one of the great gifts at the last library drawing on the 27th, we would ask conductor Gilmore to write a special jubilee for him or her. But, as Lord Dundreary would say, that is one of those things which no fellow can find out; all we are certain of is that it will never come to the man who does not own a ticket in whole or in part, and further, that if such a man exists, he has but a little over 29 days to remedy his defect.

nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most powerful restorative tonic, also combining the most valuable nervine properties, especially adapting it to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness or neuralgic pains. Mr. G. W. Seymour, druggist, of Canton, N. Y., writes Dr. Pierce as follows; "The demand for your Favorite Prescription is wonderful, and one man stated to me that his wife had not done a day's work in five months, when she commenced taking your Favorite Prescription, took two bottles and is now on the third bottle, and is able to do her house work alone and milk fourteen cows twice a day." AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

Miss. Thompson's Ogarita in "The Sea of Ice" is as artistic a bit of acting as she has favored theatre goers with during her present engagement, and combined with the delightful scenic panarama which the management have placed upon the stage, it affords an evening of pleasure and amusement, such as is seldom enjoyed. She does not appear in the play until the third act, but the interest in the two preceding acts is well sustained by Mr. Morrison and the members of the company. Miss Troy has acquitted herself quite creditably every evening this week, but if she would only moderate her voice and gestures and throw more intensity into her representation of Louise de Lascour she would do infinitely better. Mr. Egbert's acting is often exceptionally good, and he gives a Captain Lascour that is very commendable. Barabas is a character that fits Mr. Owen admirably, but this gentleman has so many times displayed his unquestionable ability in low comedy parts that the public never look for anything else but fine acting from him. Mr. Morrison appears in two characters,—Carlos and the Marquis del Monte. In the former as a mutineer on board a ship in the Arctic sea, and in the latter as an unprincipled pelf seeker in the gold mines of Mexico, when the scene changes and he is seen as a French villain in France. Mr. Morrison has made quite a hit in introducing a death scene in the closing act instead of being marched off to the bastile. It is very effective.

Miss Thompson's engagement ends with this week, and the opportunity of seeing her in "The Sea of Ice" should not be allowed to slip by unimproved.

Gilmore's Grand Concert.

Gilmore's Twenty second Regiment Band, of New York, gives one concert in Library Hall to-morrow evening. It comprises forty five musicians and those who heard it when here a month or two ago know it to be one of the finest musical organizations traveling. Speaking of Miss Thursby, who accompanies the band, the Boston Transcript says: "Miss Thursby, the young soprano who gave us a first hearing of her sweet, large voice, established herself as a favorite at once, and modestly responded to the urgent calls of her audience, after her two difficult numbers, with two simple airs, which were sung with fine discrimination of their beauties and taste that proved her excellent traning. It seemed as though the audience would never tire of Mr. Arbuckle and his cornet, and Mr. Lefebvre of the odd saxophone was cordially greeted on his appearance, and his merit enthusiastically acknowledged in an encore."

Fifth Avenue Theater.

Haverly's minstrels opened last night to a house that was a flattering recognition of the superior merits of the company. All its members are thorough "burnt cork" artists and well up in their profession. The first part of the evening's entertainment was particularly enjoyable, and exhibited the vocal strength of the organization to good advantage. The end men, Wilson and Barlow, at once won their way to favor and kept the audience continually rippling with laughter. The ballad, "You'll never miss the Water till the Well Runs Dry," was very finely and pathetically rendered by Mr. Dixon who responded to an enthusiastic encore. Barlow alone will afford his money's worth of fun.

Franklin Bowling Hall.

Gentlemen who have a taste for bowling cannot visit a place better calculated for its gratification than at the Franklin house bowling hall, on Fifth avenue, between Wood and Smithfield streets.

Library Hall.

Lotta comes next week with a strong company and will appear in several plays written especially for her. Reserved seats can be bought at Hale's music store, on Smithfield street.

Musical and Dramatic Notes.

LEW. MORRISON'S mortuary business in the last act of "The Sea of Ice" is original and effective.

THE statement that the fair Emily instead of being Miss is Mrs. Sol. Dean, is without foundation.

THE Tom Thumb Troupe, including Minnie Warren and Commodore Nutt, will give entertainments in Pittsburgh in a few days.

MISS ADDIE RANDALL, the new contralto of the Kellogg opera troupe, is full of promise. So have been five hundred prima donne.

MISS CHARLOTTE THOMPSON, in "The Sea of Ice," at the Opera House, attracts large and appreciative audiences every evening.

JOSEPHINE MANSFIELD is going back on the stage by going on it again. Is she in a conspiracy with Rev. Talmadge to make true his words?

HAVERLY'S MINSTRELS drew a splendid house at the Fifth Avenue Theatre last night. The house was comfortably warm, and everybody was well pleased.

THE sale of tickets for the great Gilmore Concert, at Library Hall, to-morrow night, continues quite heavy, and the prospects are good for a well-filled house on the occasion.

THE Franklin House Bowling Hall, under the proprietorship of W. H. Stroup, Esq., is extensively patronized every evening by the admirers of the play. Its popularity is unprecedented.

CHARLOTTE CRABTREE (Lotta, the actress) has just given to the city of San Francisco a ten thousand dollar fountain, which is made in the semblance of a lighthouse. The gift is a generous one, but the giver would be recalled more forcibly if the design were a statue of a woman in the act of kicking at something. It is in this that Lotta excels. If she kept her heels quiet and burned her banjo, she would play to empty houses.

A Prevalent Disease.

There is no disease so prevalent in America as dyspepsia and certainly none which has so generally baffled and defeated the skill of the medical profession. The only remedy for this distressing complaint is a pure medicated stimulant. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, whose essential principle is sound rye, is admitted by medical practioners to be the only alterative, corrective and restorative on which they can rely. The Bitters are the best possible specific for flatulency, dizziness, water brash, irregularity of the bowels, and all indications of confirmed dyspepsia. They do not excite, but soothe the irritated stomach and bowels, and may be taken by persons of the most delicate and sensitive organizations, who are unpleasantly affected by the use of the ordinary stimulants of commerce. Though their effect is most decisive, yet they are so mild and beneficent in operation, as to be suitable to children as well as to adults.
